NAME Magnus Imago - Comics and animations PACKAGING LAYOUT PDF (3.0 MB) GZIPPED - 3.02 MB CLOUD STORAGE CURL EVALUATOR CAUTION: The evaluation will contain a series of questions. We are not looking to get a clear and definitive answer on the things you feel interested in, but to understand your reaction to different ideas and look for the things we can work on to improve further. You can at any time skip to another question if you feel that doing so is easier. Table of contents for "Magnus Imago" Post an online comic in pdf, gif, webm (or any other video format) and get $100 in prizes. Two winners will be picked per category: best comic and best graphic. Check out the graphic novel "Stainless City" and see how it goes from there. The Magnus Imago comic strips started as a way to consume the comic society around me: anthropomorphized animal couples, stories with big emotions, hidden messages, philosophical points, jokes of all sorts, pop-culture references, and streams of images and sound, rolling together and playing with one another in visual jammers. The journal is a record of those moments, still a journal of bad habits that everyone needs to write down sometime or another. Subscribe via Email A very respected graphic novel editor gave me seven advices that I thought of applying to Magnus Imago (yes, pay attention to things like that). The main ones were: submit a 10 to 20 page comics, use artistic references and testimonials, make it easy to print the comic, find an accessible title etc. I've taken the list seriously and tried doing those things. I'm willing to be the first to admit that all 7 advices are actually the same. It's just good storytelling is all. And I've been told it has to go on the web for lots of people to find - having something physical is fun, but I don't want to have something similar to a PKZ. And after like a year of circumnavigating the idea and testing a lot of the social aspects and the layout (which comes first) I made the decision to have a more "magical" text centered on the images. I've long been in love with the idea of bringing together a lot of things

Londrekia is a large country covered with snow in the continent of Diabolus. It has always been an ice-locked kingdom, the people enjoying great prosperity in a cold climate. The road was protected by the walled gates called 'Ezkalam'. One night, a charming young man did arrive by a ship, drawn by the great art of the Kingdom. He is the prince of the country; he will be known as the "Londrekia Rekku". And after months of special training...Londrekia is back! No. 31Rafael is the eldest of the 4 children of his mother, and the prince of Londrekia. He knows he has a peculiar gift called 'Hypnosis', and even though he wants to hide it, he is also using it to become stronger in order to fight against the enemies who are trying to kidnap his friend, Rama... No. 32Rafael's Residence: Built up by the elite people in Londrekia. It has various large rooms and belongs to the prince of Londrekia. No. 33Rafael's Training Hall: A good chance to practice Hypnosis. He enjoys his dream-like training, and he always looks forward to training with his friend, Rama. No. 34Rafael's Houdini Lab: Where he practices the art of walking through walls. Although he is unable to do anything to save his friend, Rama, yet he can do whatever he wants in this lab. No. 35Rafael's Weapon Laboratory: A place where he can create deadly traps with his special power. He has improved the state of the weapons he made before, and he is proud of them. No. 36Rafael's Art Room: A large and well-equipped art room. He can draw various magic items for himself and Rama, and create magic paintings. No. 37Rafael's Office: A room to perform administrative duties. This is the seat of his duty, and it belongs to the prince of Londrekia. No. 38Rafael's Private Dining Room: A place to enjoy his private meal with the princess and his childhood friend, Rama. No. 39Rafael's Weapons Room: A room to make use of the collected weapons. He has become a proficient in the art of weaponry. No. 40R
