Your only weapon is a big stick. Use your stick to blow up the enemies. You are in a world of dinosaurs. Can you survive? You are now able to play with friends in multiplayer mode. You can see each other's mobile devices over the internet. Using your Tablet you can play with your friends without needing to be connected to the same wifi network as each other, so you can play at your convenience. Please keep this in mind and try not to play at inopportune times or in places where other people may want to use the network, such as a cafe or library etc. If you can see all the way through, then this game is really hard! If not, then the experience is quite amazing! I have released my first game for the iPhone and Android phones and tablets. It is a puzzle based game for the iPhone and it is free to download on both of them. Your job is to guide a little duck across the screen by tapping the screen, so you can reach the finish line and get the flag. The duck is powered by double tapping the screen, as you tap the screen you will see a line on the bottom right hand corner of the screen. This line shows you where you are expected to tap next, so you can get through each level. If you ever get stuck, please email me for help at the same email address as you used to register your mobile phone/tablet. This is an extremely fun logic/memory game for the children. Your task is to guide a windmill-like 'thing' around a very tiny board by controlling the 3 elements, lift, tilt, and turn, that work together to make the windmill move. The very lovely blueberry and strawberry make their way through a forest, and have to collect as many blueberries and strawberries as

* This short and simple game is the result of a college project. Q: Creating and attaching NuGet package to MVC project I want to add to my project a dll file that contains an extension method. I tried to add a package to the project but I get the error below. How can I fix it? CS0246: The type or namespace name 'MyNamespace' could not be found. Are you missing a using directive or an assembly reference? Solution Explorer: Root: lib: How can I resolve this? using Microsoft.Extensions.DependencyInjection; namespace MyNamespace { public static class MyExtension { public static void AddTo(this IServiceCollection services) { services.AddSingleton(); } } } Root: AspNetCore.csproj A: Instead of using AddSingleton use AddScoped: using Microsoft.Extensions.DependencyInjection; namespace MyNamespace { public static class MyExtension { public static void AddTo(this IServiceCollection services) { services.AddScoped(); } } } FILED NOT FOR PUBLICATION
